

Collaboration is hard.

...so let's figure it out together!

Join us to innovate, connect, and have fun.

The Center for Collaborative Conservation is proud to launch our Solutions Lab, a community of practice that will meet monthly beginning January 2023. Partake in lively discussions on issues and strategies important to collaborative conservation.

Our first Solutions Lab discussion Jan. 11 will delve into our collective experiences and strategies for collaborating with Indigenous people and Tribal nations.

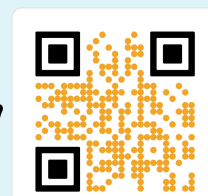

Our discussion may inform the development of a CCC Toolkit.

As a participant, YOU will help determine future discussion topics and speakers – we want to dig deep into issues that matter most to you.
